

Appendix Twenty Nine – Definitions for Role

---

Quantity Surveyors

Collaboration within the UK construction industry is a non-adversarial team based environment where through the use of the correct contract everyone understands the roles and responsibilities of others. The relationships are managed with the help of regular meetings, early warning systems, open dialogue and risk sharing to produce an atmosphere of mutual trust where, problems can be solved together and everyone contributes towards a common to ensure that everyone is a 'winner' motivated by a fair pain share gain share.

Project Managers

Collaboration within the UK construction industry is a non-adversarial team based environment where through the use of the correct contract everyone understands and respects the input of others and their roles and responsibilities. The relationships are managed with the help of regular meetings, early warning systems, open dialogue and risk sharing to produce an atmosphere of mutual trust where, information is shared, problems can be solved together and everyone contributes towards a common aim motivated by a fair pain share gain share.